TREASURE JESTS

BY MASTER CARVER PETER CALVESBERT
FIXED EDITION OF 500

Everyone loves dolphins! Is it their intelligence, their playful squeaks, or maybe that big toothy smile? Beloved universally, it's hard to imagine that a fresh water dolphin is now believed extinct. In 1950, it was estimated there were 6000 Baiji dolphins in the river Yangtze. None have been seen since 2007. It seems that the Baiji has paid the price for China's industrial success. The lid on Peter's fixed edition box figurine bears the names of the largest (Orca) and smallest (Maui) of the dolphin family. The Latin name for the Bottlenose dolphin (Tursiops truncatus) is also inscribed. Peter's signature mouse is swimming frantically, in an attempt to stay ahead of the dolphins and not inside them, like the fish found within "Turn the Tide".
